The Learning Environment

The College of Agriculture attracts and maintains a diverse faculty whose excellence in teaching, research and scholarly experiences prepare students with the necessary skills to not only survive, but excel in the field of animal science.

Professors teach hands-on research techniques in high-tech labs and train students using animals. Students are exposed to visiting international professors and opportunities exist to attend scientific meetings and research planning workshops. Internships are encouraged.

Graduation Requirements

- 36 credit hours (including up to six hours for a research thesis).
- Cumulative minimum GPA of 3.0 on a 4.0 scale.
- Completion of a research project and thesis; and a successful thesis defense.

Applying to the Program
